

Runtime-head results use a full annotation vocabulary and are reported separately from the strict zero-shot benchmark.